

Brief Talks With Congressmen

IMMIGRATION IS OF INTEREST TO MR. JOHNSON

Congressman From Washington Keeps In Close Touch With Pacific Affairs

"My home is on the Pacific coast and consequently I have kept pretty much in touch with the immigration problems that confront the Territory of Hawaii," said Representative Albert Johnson of Hoquiam, Washington, who before leaving the Sierra this morning intimated that immigration matters would manage to keep him well occupied during the 17 days allotted to the island tour.

"European and Asiatic immigration to these islands has been a matter of keen interest to me. I realize what it means perhaps more than a legislator who comes from the eastern or middle states.

"I want to pay particular attention to the manner in which immigration is handled here."

Inspector in Charge Richard Halsey visited the Sierra off port to personally greet the representative from Washington and others on committees handling immigration matters.

Representative Johnson is a real "live wire." He is a newspaper man of Hoquiam, Washington, where he is a leader in community affairs. He was familiar with Washington, D. C. before going there to represent the state of the same name, as he had had long experience as a correspondent and special writer. He now publishes the Daily Washingtonian at Hoquiam.

CURRENCY EXPERT EXPECTS TO GET FACTS ON SUGAR

"When it comes to sugar, I must confess I don't know very much," said Representative Carter Glass of Virginia, "but I don't expect to be so ignorant on the subject 17 days hence. Now if you would talk about banking or currency I could give you some information."

Mr. Glass is the man financiers give credit as being "the inventor of anti-panic legislation," inasmuch as he fathered the currency bill for federal aid to banking concerns during bad times.

When it came to commenting on the squabble between Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Comptroller of Currency Williams with the Riggs National bank, which it was reported here, resulted in several banks withdrawing their applications for membership in the reserve system, the Virginia representative said it was a matter he couldn't discuss.

NORTH CAROLINA SENATOR TALKS TARIFF BRIEFLY

"Let me tell you, sir, Hawaii's principal industry, sugar, has not been crippled yet," Senator Lee S. Overman of North Carolina declared on the Sierra this morning. "The full operation of the tariff bill was postponed for two big reasons. One of these is the necessity of raising revenue in view of the present international situation and the other is because it is apparent there is some doubt about the bill and its going into effect was postponed so that it could be further considered at the next session of congress should such be desired."

"I would rather not express my opinion on the question at this time. First I must make the personal investigation of the island industries, including sugar raising, which I contemplate."

Two hundred inmates of the Chicago State hospital for the insane were rescued from a fire that destroyed an annex. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

'UNCLE JOE' IS MARKED FIGURE AMONG VISITORS

He Was Here Once Before; Too Busy Enjoying Himself to Talk National Politics

Draped over the rail of the Sierra with black slouch hat and cigar at just the angle that the cartoonists favor, Hon. Joseph G. Cannon of Danville, Ill., was the most distinctive figure among the hundreds who thronged the steamer's deck as she drew into the harbor this morning.

Off quarantine the former speaker gave pleasant response to the interviewer's questions, and seemed to be at peace with the world in general and his present surroundings in particular.

"Yes, sir, I've been looking forward to this trip for some time," said "Uncle Joe." "All of us have for that matter. Some of the party haven't proved regular sailors, but for my part I've enjoyed every moment of the voyage, although, of course, I'll be glad to get ashore and look round a bit."

"How is Hawaii thought of in congress. Is it just a dot on the map, or do the lawmakers really know something about us?" was asked.

"Well," said Mr. Cannon, "they do and they don't. We hear a good deal about Hawaiian defense, and from a military standpoint the islands are pretty much in the limelight. There's a lot about the industries and the life here, though, that members of this party never dreamed of, that they are going to find out soon, unless I'm much mistaken. I was here myself for four days in ninety-seven, and I've remembered that time all through the years. I think the trip to the other islands will be of special interest."

"Uncle Joe" was too busy taking in the beauties of nature to talk national politics. He intimated that this was a pleasure trip, and that his first few hours in Hawaii should be out of sight and sound of the day's work.

COMMITTEE WILL LOOK OVER SITES FOR U.S. BUILDING

Representative R. W. Austin of Tennessee began to talk federal building site even before the Sierra came into her berth this morning. Mr. Austin, who is accompanied on the present trip by his wife and daughter, is a member of the house committee on public buildings and grounds, and he comes to Hawaii with a special mission—to help in the final selection of a site for the new federal building.

"Senator Warren, Representative Burnett and myself were asked by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Newton to go into this building site controversy and make a decision," said Mr. Austin. "We will get down to business right away and try to look at the proposition from all angles."

"But I hope business won't take too much of our time," continued the congressman, "because we are looking forward to a lot of pleasure on the present trip. I am going to keep right on traveling and am planning to continue to Manila in about ten days and from there make a visit to China. I want to investigate conditions, and get new statistical information regarding the industries. You know we have to keep our supply of facts and figures right up to date in this business."

Representative Austin is an old-time newspaper man who still likes to talk "shop" with the pressmen.

LUCY KAHUE READS NEWSPAPER AND IS SHOT FOR DOING IT

James Kalona, a Hawaiian, last night fired three shots at Lucy Kahue, a matron at the Insane Asylum, because she was reading a newspaper. Kalona was arrested and now is in the city jail. The woman is in the Queen's hospital suffering with two bullet wounds.

According to the police report, Kalona and the woman had some words last night while at the former's home. The woman refused a request made by Kalona and started to read a newspaper. Kalona pulled a gun and fired three times at the woman, wounding her twice in the leg. After the third shot the woman grappled with the man. Neighbors separated them and called the police.

Kalona told the police that he was driven mad with jealousy when his fiancée, as he called the woman, started to read the paper. Because she was reading the paper is the reason given by the woman for the shooting.

SWAGAR SHERLEY WOULD SEE HOW DEFENSES FARE

Kentuckian, Member of Appropriations Committee, Will Look at Results

"The military and naval end of congressional appropriations will occupy much of my visit to Hawaii," said Representative Swagar Sherley of Kentucky.

"Pearl harbor naval base, its dry-dock, shops and quarters, will require hundreds of thousands of dollars, to make a complete naval base and one of the most impregnable in the Pacific."

"It was my good fortune to visit the islands about ten years ago, while a member of the Taft commission to the Philippines. I then went over the proposed site for the Pearl harbor naval station. My return to Hawaii is pleasurable in the extreme."

Representative Sherley shows keen interest in military appropriations. He hopes to have an opportunity to see how the money already made available has been expended at the several military posts on the island of Oahu.

NEW YORKER IS INTERESTED IN DISASTER TO F-4

Representative D. J. Riordan of New York City didn't fasten his eyes on Diamond Head, and the pleasant coast line of Oahu as the Sierra came to anchor off port this morning. His attention was fixed on a spot on the water marked by a clumsy dredger and several puffing tugs.

The grave of the submarine F-4 claimed all of the congressman's attention, and his first words to the interviewer were: "Do you think they'll ever get it up?"

Representative Riordan is a member, and a very keen member, too, of the house committee on naval affairs. "The loss of the F-4 made a great impression on the people of America," said Mr. Riordan. "It excited the greatest sympathy throughout the country, but I think I may say that New York City was especially sorrowful. With the Brooklyn navy yard next door to us, and so much submarine work going on on the Atlantic coast, we seem in close touch with that branch of the service."

"Of course the loss of the F-4 has brought to light all sorts of inventions and schemes for raising vessels of that class. Some of them may be good, and some of them worthless. That I can't say. But I do think it likely that the navy department will give careful consideration to any device which increases the factor of safety."

"Of course I want to see Pearl Harbor just as soon as possible. I feel that I know all about it from maps, descriptions and reports, but I want to see what it looks like actually. If this trip continues as pleasantly as it has begun, everyone on it is indeed lucky."

HONOLULU ATTORNEYS WILL HAVE PLAY TIME

In response to a request from attorneys practicing before the court, Circuit Judge Stuart has ordered that from Saturday until May 17, inclusive no cases will be tried in his division. A recess of the court was asked owing to the visit to the territory of the congressional party. Many of the attorneys making the request have been appointed to assist in the entertainment.

The attorneys who petitioned for the recess were Castle and Withington, W. J. Robinson, A. L. C. Atkinson, F. Schnack, E. C. Peters, J.

WIFE OF SENATOR LEWIS WITH VISITING PARTY

Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, who is among the members of the congressional party, is the wife of Senator Lewis of Illinois, one of the well-known Democratic leaders. Senator Lewis for many years was prominent in the politics of the northwest, then residing in Seattle. Later he moved to Chicago and made a notable record as corporation counsel for the city. Rising fast in Illinois politics, he was elected to the United States congress, where he had already had experience as a member of the lower house from Washington. Mrs. Lewis was Miss Rose Lawton Douglas of Georgia. They were married in 1898.

Two-thirds of Jones' makeup is curiosity, the other third wit. A short time ago he met his neighbor proudly displaying a valuable horse. "That is a fine horse you have there, Brown," he exclaimed cordially. "How much did you give for him?" "I gave my note," was the crisp rejoinder. "Well, you got him cheap," said Jones.
